Communication policy

WhatsApp, Telegram and Messenger can be used for communicating with us. However, the contents of these messages are non-binding for us. For binding purposes only email messages are accepted.

We will assume that the email address, from which you sent your first message to us, is the email address we can use for all our correspondence with you. If you want to change that email address, you will need to notify us before doing that.

As long as the reception of an email message is not confirmed by the receiving party, it has no value for any dispute. That confirmation can be implicit, meaning that one responds to a message. The message to which is being responded to, should then be part of that response.

Any change to what has already been agreed upon can only be requested and agreed upon by means of email messages. A change is only valid were there is a mutual agreement on it.

Our email addresses that can be used, are inquiry@armadillo-nicaragua.com, info@armadillo-nicaragua.com, continue@armadillo-nicaragua.com (preferred) and armadillonicaragua@gmail.com.
